PRE-REQUISITE: Permission of instructor. This course is graded S/U.

COURSE DESCRIPTION:

An internship experience is an important component of the curriculum in the School of Communication. Internship credit is required on the Journalism major curriculum and is an experiential learning option on the Communication major curriculum. These internship experiences are central to career preparation in our undergraduate major and provide opportunities for exploring the ties between classroom training and real-world application. The internship experience must be communication or journalism-related to be eligible to receive credit through COMM 4190. In addition, COMM 4190 is only available to co-operative learning experiences which require a student to participate in a full immersion professional experience in a career-related position for a semester, instead of academic courses. A student must be working 40 hours per week to qualify for COMM 4190. Internships with less weekly hours should defer to COMM 4191 for credit.

COURSE OBJECTIVES:

- Provide students with a meaningful learning experience to extend classroom instruction.
- Provide opportunities to experience first-hand the application of communication theories and principles in action.
- Allow students to reflect on differences between classroom learning and real-world work situations.
- To provide students with the opportunity to apply communication concepts to everyday work situations.
- To allow students to participate in a full immersion professional experience in a career-related position for a semester instead of academic courses

INTERNSHIP CO-OP APPROVAL:

All students seeking academic credit for a co-op internship experience must submit the online COMM 4191 Internship Enrollment Application by the first Friday of the semester. Approval/denial of credit for the co-op is at the sole discretion of the instructor and is based on the Minimum Eligibility Requirements set forth on the School of Communication website. After approval, the student will be registered for COMM 4190. Under no circumstances will a student be allowed to receive retroactive academic credit for a co-op experience that has already concluded.

COURSE CREDIT:

Students are registered for 12 credit hours of COMM 4190. Each credit requires 50 hours of work. The number of credits registered dictates the minimum number of work hours required at the co-op. See chart below for the minimum number of work hours needed to pass COMM 4190.

12 credits = 600 hours of work

Please note: You must achieve all work hours in order to pass Comm 4190.

Students are required to complete the minimum number of work hours based on the credit hours of COMM 4190 that they are registered to receive. Under no circumstances will the minimum amount of credit hours be changed after the Internship Enrollment Application has been submitted. It is very important that the student and supervisor have a specific discussion about how many hours the internship will involve during the internship experience prior to submitting the Internship Enrollment Application. If 600 hours is not attainable, the student should change enrollment to COMM 4191 by the internship enrollment application deadline, the first Friday of the semester.

GRADING:

The course is graded S/U. In order to receive a Satisfactory for the course, students must complete all course assignments with an S and complete the minimum number of work hours at the internship site based on one's individual credit hour enrollment for the course. See chart above in "Course Credit" for work requirements. The following are the components of your grade:

Supervisor Mid-Term Evaluation

Student Self-Evaluation

Supervisor Final Evaluation

Time Sheet (with minimum hours per credit satisfied)

Students who fail to submit assignments by the deadline and/or work less than the minimum hours will receive an unsatisfactory grade. Late assignment acceptance, extensions, or incomplete grades are at the sole discretion of the instructor. Students who are fired or relieved from their internship responsibilities before the end of the semester will automatically be given an unsatisfactory grade. Grades per assignment will be posted to Carmen.

Late Policy

Late assignments are not accepted unless PRIOR permission is worked out with me. Meeting deadlines is an important part of professional work, and I will hold all interns to this standard. It is your responsibility as a student to make sure that your supervisor has submitted the evaluations and time sheet on your behalf. You should check your dashboard and contact your supervisor if you see an item not submitted. Evaluation links are emailed out in advance to allow adequate time for completion. If I am missing items from a supervisor after the deadline has passed, I will contact you and allow them to re-submit it, if necessary.

Communication

I will send a few email announcements out over the term. It is important to read all emails that I send. Email is my preferred way of communication. I am happy to meet in individual appointments to discuss course assignments or the internship experience, as needed.
