COMM 3440 Mass Communication and Society

SPRING 2024
Class Number 18094

Faculty Instructor:

Dr. Rob Potter [pronouns: he/him/his]

- Online lectures: available via CarmenCanvas
- Office hours: Via Microsoft Teams, by appointment. Click here to make one.
- potter.477@osu.edu

Graduate Student Teaching Assistant:

Kate Stewart [pronouns: she/her/hers]

- stewart.2337@osu.edu
- Office hours: by appointment

Mode of delivery/Class meeting times:

This is a hybrid course. OSU defines this as a course where no more than 75% of the faculty instruction occurs online. The current plan is for Dr. Potter to lecture in person every Tuesday from 2:20-3:40pm in Room 160 in the building at 209 W. 18th Ave. Screen recordings of slides and classroom audio from Tuesday lectures will be posted on CarmenZoom within 48 hours, barring technical difficulties. Use these for review and in case circumstances prevent you from attending in person.

You are encouraged to attend all Tuesday lectures in person to interact with Dr. Potter, the graduate student TA, and your peers. We all spend enough time watching things on screens...come to class on Tuesdays!

The rest of the instructional content will be delivered only as online lectures. This will typically be delivered as brief (30 minute or less) asynchronous lecture segments. You should expect several lecture segments each week, and are expected to watch the asynchronous material the week it is assigned.

Please note that an average of six hours of preparation/homework is also expected for this course in addition to the faculty instruction.

Course description

This class begins with an introduction to the basics of media psychology, including the scientific methods used to test claims about the effects of media on individuals. We then consider the psychological mechanisms through which media effects are thought to occur before examining the contexts in which these effects are stronger, weaker, or non-existent. Class assignments will push students to consider how the realities of media effects can be communicated to mass audiences in ways that are practical, accurate, and devoid of fearmongering.

Course learning goals and outcomes

In this course students will work toward developing skills to:

- classify media psychology as a branch of social science,
- evaluate the quality of published research on media effects,
- evaluate how media effects research is communicated to the public,
- develop evidence-based recommendations for media use in everyday life.

Additionally, this course fulfills the embedded literacy requirement for technology in the General Education program. Accordingly, students will also be able to:

- describe the relationships between technology and society in historical and cultural contexts,
- recognize how technologies emerge and change,
- evaluate the social and ethical implications of technology.

Required materials

- There is no required textbook for this course
- Readings will be assigned to provide examples of specific research methods being used in the industry. These will be posted on CarmenCanvas.
- Access to a computer/laptop, a high-speed Internet connection, current web browser with video-related plugins, speakers/headphones,
- All assignments must be submitted in MS Word or PDF format. Access to Microsoft Office is highly recommended. OSU students can find that for free here.

Points

This class has 100 possible points, which are distributed as follows:

'5M' Activities (x5)	10 points
Online Quizzes (x4)	10 points
Checkpoints (x5)	10 points
Research Syntheses (x2)	30 points
Online Exams (x2)	40 points

Assignments

- '5M' Activities (2pts x 5). Several of the key concepts introduced this semester are summarized as the 5M's: Media, Methods of research, Mediation, Moderation, and Meta-analysis. When these concepts are introduced, students will complete a worksheet that asks them to examine how that concept manifests in published research papers and/or news articles. There are six activities in total, and they are graded for thoroughness, completion, and writing quality using the following scale (2 = satisfactory, 1 = needs improvement, 0 = not satisfactory). You will be graded on your top five scores.

- Online Quizzes (2.5pts x 4). Each quiz is worth 2.5 points and consists of 10 multiple-choice questions. Students have two attempts to complete each quiz, and these attempts have no time limit. Prior to the first attempt of each quiz, students should review all assigned readings and lecture notes. Then, complete the first attempt without referencing any of these materials. After submitting the quiz, students look to see which questions were answered incorrectly and use notes to figure out why. In the second quiz attempt, these errors can be corrected. Only the highest score will be counted. Research shows that this process of testing/re-learning/correcting is a highly effective way of solidifying knowledge. Therefore, these quizzes are designed to provide periodic checks on student knowledge and serve as reviews for later exams.
- Checkpoints (2pts x 5). These serve to assess student understanding of key course concepts. Checkpoints consist of open-ended questions answered on CarmenCanvas. These questions are designed to provide guidance toward the research synthesis assignments described below. Checkpoints are graded for thoroughness, completion, and writing quality using the following scale (2 = satisfactory, 1 = needs improvement, 0 = not satisfactory).
- Research Synthesis Assignments (2 submissions). The main course project asks you to research a specific media effects topic of your choice. This project culminates in a 1-page paper (single-spaced) that summarizes existing research on your topic and provides evidence-based recommendations about how people should approach media use in everyday life. Prior to writing this short paper, you will complete preliminary assignments that ask you to gather, evaluate, and synthesize research on your chosen topic. The first synthesis assignment is graded out of 10 points, and the second synthesis assignment is graded out of 20 points. Both assignments are evaluated using a combination of completion, accuracy, and effort. Detailed rubrics are provided for each synthesis assignment.
- Online Exams (20pts x 2). There are two online exams that consist of 20 multiple-choice questions and 10 true/false questions. Each exam is worth 20 points. A study guide is provided, and you can use your notes to complete the exams. However, you only have ONE attempt to complete each exam. This attempt is timed (60 minutes).

If you score less than 70% on an exam, you can complete an Exam Reflection Assignment. This assignment requires you to reflect on errors that you made and demonstrate mastery of the material that you misunderstood. Satisfactory completion of this reflection will increase your exam grade to 70%. You are only allowed to complete the exam reflection assignment ONCE per semester.

Late assignments and make-ups

All deadlines are in Eastern Standard Time (EST). Students may submit all assessments late with a penalty. Penalties for late work increase cumulatively. Submitting work one second after the deadline yields a 20% penalty for the submission for the first week following the due date. After this first week, students may receive at most 50% for any submitted late work.

Make-ups for any point-related task will be given for university-excused excursions or for unavoidable circumstances only (e.g., deaths, family emergencies, employment/internship interviews) at the discretion of Dr. Potter. This may require the student to meet during CarmenZoom office hours, or a separate appointment time, to discuss the situation.

Extra Credit

Conducting scientific research is central to the mission of the School of Communication at The Ohio State University. Students can earn up to 2 points of extra credit by agreeing to be a research participant. For each hour of participation in a School of Communication research study, students receive 1 point of extra credit.

Students must sign up for studies at <https://osucomm.sona-systems.com>. Be sure to read the instructions on the SONA site closely. Missing a research appointment or providing researchers inaccurate responses (i.e., quickly clicking through questionnaires just to 'get it done.') will not result in earning extra credit.

Grading scale

Please note that CarmenCanvas, OSU's grading and class management software, does not round fractions up. Please take that into account in computing grades. The official grading scale is as follows:

93 – 100:	A
90 – 92.9:	A-
87 – 89.9:	B+
83 – 86.9:	B
80 – 82.9:	B-
77 – 79.9:	C+
73 – 76.9:	C
70 – 72.9:	C-

Communicating with Dr. Potter and expected response times

The following list provides a sense of Dr. Potter's intended availability throughout the course. (Remember that you can call 614-688-HELP at any time if you have a technical problem.)

- Grading and assignment feedback. For large weekly assignments you can expect feedback within 14 days. This will come in the form of grades and comments provided directly on the assignment submission in CarmenCanvas.
- Email. Dr. Potter will typically reply within 48 hours. It is recommended that you send email from your OSU account and have the subject line read 'Comm 3440 student question.'

The instructor is then responsible for scheduling an alternative time and date for the course requirement, which may be before or after the original time and date of the course requirement. These alternative accommodations will remain confidential. It is the student's responsibility to ensure that all course assignments are completed.

Weather or other short-term closing

Should in-person classes be canceled, we will meet virtually via CarmenZoom during our regularly scheduled time. Updates will be sent via CarmenCanvas.

Mental Health

Students may experience a range of mental health issues over the course of a term that can cause barriers to learning. These can include strained relationships, increased anxiety, alcohol/drug problems, feeling down, difficulty concentrating, and/or a lack of motivation. This may lead to diminished academic performance or even reduce your ability to participate in daily activities unrelated to class.

The Ohio State University offers services to assist you with addressing these and other concerns you may be experiencing. If you or someone you know is experiencing mental health issues, you can learn more about the broad range of confidential services available on campus via the Office of Student Life's Counseling and Consultation Service (CCS) or calling 614-292-5766.

CCS is located on the 4th Floor of the Younkin Success Center and 10th Floor of Lincoln Tower.

You can reach an on-call counselor when CCS is closed at 614-292-5766.

If you are thinking of harming yourself, need a safe, non-judgmental place to talk, or if you are worried about someone else and need advice about what to do, 24-hour emergency help is also available through the Suicide Prevention Hotline (Columbus: 614-221-5445).

Academic Integrity Policy

Policies for this course:

- Code of Student Conduct: Students are expected to understand and abide by The Ohio State University Code of Student Conduct.
- Written assignments: All written assignments, communications, and posts should be the student's original work. Formal assignments should follow APA style to cite the ideas and words of research sources. Students are encouraged to ask a trusted person to proofread their assignments before turning them in – but only the submitting student should revise or rewrite the work.
- Reusing past work: In general, students are prohibited in university courses from turning in work from a past class to a current class, even if the work is modified. Students who want to build on past research or revisit a topic explored in previous courses should first discuss the situation with Dr. Potter in office hours.
- Falsifying research or results: All work in this course is intended to be a learning experience; students should never feel tempted to make data or results look more successful than they were.
- Use of Generative AI: Except for spelling and grammar checkers, students may not use Chat-GPT or other forms of generative AI-software to prepare their assignments.

Procedures for Suspected Academic Misconduct

It is the responsibility of the Committee on Academic Misconduct (COAM) to investigate or establish procedures for the investigation of all reported cases of student academic misconduct. The term “academic misconduct” includes all forms of student academic misconduct wherever committed; illustrated by, but not limited to, cases of plagiarism and dishonest practices in connection with examinations.

Dr. Potter is required to report suspected cases of academic misconduct to COAM. It is COAM's responsibility to assess whether plagiarism occurred.

Plagiarism as defined by the university's code of conduct is, “the representation of another's work or ideas as one's own; it includes the unacknowledged word-for-word use and/or paraphrasing of another person's work, and/or the inappropriate unacknowledged use of another person's ideas; submitting substantially the same work to satisfy requirements for one course or academic requirement that has been submitted in satisfaction of requirements for another course or academic requirement, without permission of the instructor of the course for which the work is being submitted or supervising authority for the academic requirement.” Here is a good resource on plagiarism from the OSU Writing Center.

You are encouraged to plan enough time to prepare your assignment submissions so that any questions you have about possible academic misconduct can be brought to the instructors before the submission deadline.

Accessibility accommodations

Students with physical or mental conditions (chronic or temporary) that may impair learning should contact the Office of Student Life SLDS office in 098 Baker Hall.

Find a list of SLDS services here.

Students certified for accommodations by SLDS should inform Dr. Potter of their needs as soon as possible.

An environment free from harassment and discrimination

The Ohio State University and Dr. Potter are committed to building and maintaining a community to reflect diversity and to improve opportunities for all. Students have the right to be free from harassment, discrimination, and sexual misconduct.

To report such behavior and/or to seek confidential and non-confidential resources and support, contact the Office of Institutional Equity.

Tentative nature of this syllabus. Events that transpire over the semester may require the modification of this syllabus and/or schedule. Modifications will be announced via CarmenCanvas. It is the student's responsibility to remain up to date on modifications and be aware of current policies, deadlines, etc.

By staying enrolled in this class, the student agrees to abide by the policies described in the syllabus.
